

Like I Said

by The Tonk Honkys © 2013

Look around and ask yourself
Why there's so many in need of help
Is it just the luck of the draw
Or is it because of us all
Everybody's preoccupied
Blaming folks on the other side
But only those sitting at the top
Will benefit until we stop

We're chasing dollar signs in a race without a finish line
We step on everyone else when we fend for ourselves
But there's a better way we can all start living today
Swallow your pride and admit that our lives all mean the same

Everything that we all have
Comes from those who cross our path
No one makes it on their own
Every step of the way we're not alone
We get much more than we realize
From all the people in our lives
Even those we forget about
Have done things we can't do without

We're chasing dollar signs in a race without a finish line
We step on everyone else when we fend for ourselves
But there's a better way we can all start living today
Swallow your pride and admit that our lives all mean the same

(Like I said) It's all just a run around
(Like I said) When we put each other down
(Like I said) It's just a losing game
(Like I said) 'Cause we're really all the same
(Like I said) Don't let a dollar sign
(Like I said) Be the only thing on your mind