

Off The Cuff

by The Tonk Honkys © 2013

Who am I, who are you, what are we gonna do Does it even matter if we never know who's who That's just the way I feel I hope you feel the same way too
It doesn't matter to me, don't let it matter to you... we're off the cuff and running

I wanna live in a world of blue skies
Let's clear the air when clouds arise
Wasted words only come out to criticize
There's better ways to see where the answer lies
The walls we put up only keep us inside
While all the while life passes by
There's so much more that we can find
When we open up our hearts and open up our minds

If you've come to an end start all over again
You never know what you'll find every time you begin
The best part of the ride is when it starts to spin Even if you disagree with me at least we both will be... off the cuff and running

I wanna live in a world of blue skies
Let's clear the air when clouds arise
Wasted words only come out to criticize
There's better ways to see where the answer lies
The walls we put up only keep us inside
While all the while life passes by
There's so much more that we can find
When we open up our hearts and open up our minds